ENVIRONMENTAL COMPLIANCE UNDER THE SPOTLIGHT
WHILE CREATING A WORK CULTURE WHERE WOMEN LEAD

Join the Three Rivers Society of Women Environmental Professionals to hear Arletta Scott-Williams from one of the region's most important environmental agencies – ALCOSAN

For our inaugural event, the Society of Women Environmental Professionals, Three Rivers Chapter, is pleased to feature Arletta Scott-Williams, Executive Director for ALCOSAN – possibly the most important environmental and public health organization in the Pittsburgh Region. Arletta is a pioneer in her field and a respected executive who will discuss the challenges associated with managing a 59-acre treatment plant that processes up to 250 million gallons of wastewater daily. Join SWEP to hear how ALCOSAN is meeting heightened environmental goals for water quality while creating a work culture where women lead.

SWEP Three Rivers' mission is to provide women environmental professionals, working within the Three Rivers region, a community that recognizes and supports women's leadership and career development and provides forums to share information and ideas and promote public service within the environmental field.
